

THE BUILD GUILD Podcast

The Build Guild is a podcast that explores the lives of amateur and professional MAKERS: part-time, full-time, side-hustle, and small business owners.

BRIAN HICKEY:

Also known as Fiery Squirrel Art. The deepest voice of the guild, Brian is a true artist. He's a middle school art teacher by day and a freelance artist by night. He's a wiz at Adobe Illustrator and Procreate and he's the brains (and brawn) behind our awesome graphics and logos. He's also incredibly unorganized.

BEN MYERS:

Owner of Myers Woodshop. He is a third generation self-taught woodworker (YouTube University) and tech enthusiast. As the computer wiz of the group, he loves fast wifi, upgrading to the newest and greatest hardware, and he knows computers like the back of his hand. Almost solely focused on content creation, he occasionally takes on commissioned pieces if the work is right. He's also a neat freak (understatement).

COTY SKINNER:

Coty, a retired army veteran, is the only full-time woodworker of the group. Coty makes custom furniture of all kinds. After starting out in his garage, his home town of Searcy, Arkansas won season 4 of the Hulu TV show, Small Business Revolution (Featuring Ty Pennington of Trading Spaces and Extreme Home Makeover). Coty was picked to be one of the top 6 finalists to appear on the show and get a business revamp. Our Podcast picks up just when Coty started his TV journey.
